

South Florida Law Firm Retained In Wake of Deadly Motorcycle Accident

The family of Raymond Daniels Jr. is urging drivers to be more careful when they get behind the wheel. "You have to be very aware driving a car that's a 2,000-pound killer," Daniels' step-father, Bob Hudson, told a reporter after a teen driver, cited for careless driving, took Raymond's life in a tragic accident. The family is also seeking answers and has retained the law firm of Ellis, Ged & Bodden, P.A., to represent Mr. Daniels' estate.

The accident occurred about five miles north of Punta Gorda in Charlotte County, Florida, on Friday, February 22, 2008. Raymond Daniels Jr., age 51, was riding his Harley Davidson motorcycle that night and stopped for a red light on US 41/SR 45 at the intersection of Forrest Nelson Boulevard, when a 16-year old girl driving a 2001 Ford pickup truck slammed into the rear of the bike. She was going approximately 45 mph at the time of the accident.

Initial reports indicate the teen driver may have been talking on a cell phone at the time of the fatal collision. "The accident remains under investigation by the Florida Highway Patrol. Additional charges may be filed," C. Glen Ged, a founding partner in the Boca-Raton based firm and lead attorney on the case, says, "We are following the investigation closely and we will pursue justice on behalf of Mr. Daniels and his family." In addition to his stepfather, Mr. Daniels is survived by his mother, Anne Hudson, and his three children, Matthew (29), Amy (25) and Raymond (22).

Mr. Ged, who specializes in severe personal injury and wrongful death cases, began earning a reputation as one of the region's most compassionate and dedicated lawyers more than a decade ago. He graduated cum laude from Fairleigh Dickinson University in 1987 with a Bachelors of Science, and earned his Juris Doctor Degree from New England School of Law in 1991. Mr. Ged was admitted to the Florida Bar in 1992.
